FACTORYVILLE.

Special to the Scranton Tribune Factoryville, Jan. 13.-Miss Bertha Knapp, the trained nurse who has been taking care of the diphtheria patients up at Brennan's, in the township, was taken with the disease last week, and is now at the home of her parents in this place. The board of health has the house placarded and quarantined, every precaution being taken to prevent the spread of the malady, The ice harvest in this vicinity is now in full blast and every available man that can be, is pressed into service. The crop is a good one again this year and is about fourteen inches

The January term of Wyoming county court will commence next Monday. The borough councils are working on the subject of lighting the town by They will hold a special meeting this evening for the purpose of looking into the franchise and contract part of it. It may not be out of place here to give for the benefit of the taxpayers and residents a few figures in regard to the cost of lighting the streets with the present system, and by lighting them by electricity. At the rate that the borough is paying for the lighting of thirty-eight oil lamps at the present time, and if they were lighted every night in the year, as the electric lights will be, it would cost the borough a little over five hundred and twenty dollars per year, at 3% cents a fight per night, outside of the expense for repairs and new lamps, and they make a very uncertain light at that. The proposition from the Keystone Lumber Supply company that the councils are now considering is to burn forty 24-candle-power lights at $500 per year, lights to burn from one-half hour after sunset to midnight every night in the year, the borough to be at no expense in the construction of the plant and line, franchise and contract to be awarded for a term of five or ten years. One of the 24-candle-power lights is suspended over the street in front of the lumber company's mill, and can be seen most any evening.

After all, this good old town is a pretty good and desirable place to live There are some, it is true, that try to better their conditions by moving elsewhere, but generally a fair trial elsewhere convinces them that this town is the one above all others, and back they come. Among those who were former citizens here, and who will again come back here to reside are: Ex-County Commissioner Fred H Chase, who now resides in Scranton; J. C. Reynolds, who, it is understood, will build a handsome residence at the lower end of Grove street and later occupy it; Solomon Reynolds, who moved to Yonkers, N. Y., about one year ago, will also be welcomed back to our threshold.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Reynolds, of West Nicholson, spent last Friday with friends in this place.

people and danger of collision with cams, has caused the borough authorities to pass an ordinance forbidding coasting on any street in the borough. The annual report of the Presbyterian Sunday school shows a membership of 415 and an average attendance of 225 during the past year. Four have been become members of the church. The session on Sunday was of unusual interest, being the sixteenth annual report made by the retiring superintendremoved by death and eighteen have ent, Andrew Thompson, who has so faithfully and earnestly served as superintendent for over sixteen years. After a few words of advice and encouragement to the school and thanks for their loyalty and faithfulness, Mr. Thompson introduced David L. Hower, his successor as superintendent, bespeaking for him the co-operation of the membership in his Sunday school work, Mr. Hower, on assuming charge, spoke very feelingly of the responsible position to which he had been called, and consented to accept only by a desire to be useful. W. B. Holmes, chairman of the committee, presented resolutions on the retirement of Mr. Thompson, which were adopted by a rising vote.

FOREST CITY.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Forest City, Jan. 13 .- The new library project is rapidly gaining the interest and support of the people. There should be found room in the new borough building for such an enterprise, and once started it would by natural stages soon grow to goodly proportions. A free library would be a source of pleasure and profit to all our citizens, old and T. A. Surdam was a Scranton visitor yesterday.

After weeks of unremitting effort, the authorities believe that they have finally located the source of contagion from which developed the recent cases of small-pox in this place and the present cases at Hallstead. Burgess McCausland has prepared the following statement regarding it: Mrs. Jayne, residing in Plymouth township, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad on Dec. 11, 1901. She was taken sick on the train coming home and broke out before reaching her destination, but keeping her face covered with a heavy black vein, so that her trouble was not known. As the train did not make close connections at Scranton, she had to wait two hours in he Scranton depot before getting a train for There were no cases of small-pox in Youngstown, Ohio, previous to Mrs. Jayne's visit but since then there has been an epidemic, the disease first breaking out in the home of her relatives, where she stayed. All the inmates of that home have now had the disease, a sister of Mrs. Jayne's having died with it. Mrs. Jayne was very ill after arriving home, but is now considered out of danger, but her husband is down cith it. By a strange coincidence, the nurse who attended Mrs. Jayne through her illness was

Upon the arrival of the nurse, who was familiar with the trip of Mrs. Jayne on that date, and her illness on the train, Mrs. Codidington's suspicions were confirmed. On the same car were Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert, return-ing from Binghamton, and a consideration of the me that elapsed between the exposure of the seople to this case and their subsequent illness, stablishes the fact that the cases of small-pox Montrose and Hallstead are due to the con-mination of this woman, Mrs. Jayne, Dr. Ed-ards, who is attending Mr. and Mrs. Jayne, sub-ing number, with their violins and mandoling and the Newell Sisters rivalled the colored coterior exhibitions of buck and wing dancing.

The lumor of the performance was interpreted Dave Conroy and Harry Keeler, and Collins and Nelson, The programme concluded with laughable farce entitled, 'King of the Bog-Ger Boos." The company will remain at the the week, with marinees daily.

"Barbara Frietchie."

"Barbara Frietchie," with Miss Frances Gaun as Barbara, will be the attraction at the Lyceum next Saturday, matinee and night. This is Clyde Fitch's play which made such a delightful sen-sation in New York. It was found to be a beau tiful, unconventional piece, stirring, patriotic and romantic, and it presented the heroine of Whittier's celebrated "Barbara Frietchie" poem, not as a bent and white haired old woman, but as a charming, glowing, Fredericktown maiden, whose golden heart was given to a federal officer.

Mr. Fitch told his story to delightfully and the acting was so superb that the play was an acknowledged triumph on its first night at the Criterion theater, New York, and it kept that spacious play house crowded to the doors to
